Shout Out

Farewell, Sue Sterling!

Staff-Writer at the Daily Star-Journal, Sue Sterling, will be leaving after 30 years of work and dedication to DSJ and our community. She has been a huge help to the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce in reporting on our events. We will miss you, Sue! Good luck!

Introducing Sacred Heart Catholic Preschool's New Director!

Julie Frias is currently an educator at Guadalupe Centers Elementary School in Kansas City, Missouri, where she teaches and develops ethnically diverse kindergarten children. Julie has also been tutoring 3rd grade students for 2 years in preparation for the MAP tests.

Julie was born in Troy, Missouri, a small town Northwest of St. Louis, Missouri. She received her education from the Troy Missouri Public School District and graduated in 1983. She obtained her Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education and her Master in Education with Principal Certification from Missouri Baptist University, St. Louis, MO. Julie also holds her Early Childhood certification as well.

Julie has extensive experience in Early Childhood education and development. Before teaching at Guadalupe Centers Elementary, she spent ten years as an educator at Sacred Heart Parrish in Troy, Missouri, teaching children in Kindergarten and 3rd grade. Julie was also active in many parish organizations – teaching 3rd grade and Kindergarten PSR, RCIA, St. Vincent DePaul Food Pantry and tutoring children of all ages. After serving over a decade in the Catholic Education system, she transitioned into the Troy Public school teaching 5th and 3rd grade. While there, she served on many district committees and tutoring. She then spent another 2 years at St. Louis the King Catholic School in St. Louis, Missouri in Kindergarten.

Julie currently lives in Kansas City. In her personal time, she enjoys swimming, reading, cooking, baking, exercising at the gym and spending time with friends and family. Julie has a son, Gregory, who also lives in Kansas City and will be graduating on May 18 from UMKC School of Law.

Julie is very enthusiastic to be joining the Sacred Heart Preschool and becoming an active member of the parish and community. She is ready to learn about the program, and to develop meaningful relationships with local families and their children as well as the staff of the school and church. Most importantly, Julie is eager to become a part of a faith-based community.

Dear Friend of the Warrensburg and Holden Senior Centers, Spring is the season that brings us hope and renewal. Our Senior Centers are a place where hope exists. And spring is an opportunity for us to renew our commitment to provide services to our seniors that bring them hope and renew their spirit by seeing that there is a community of people that care deeply about their wellbeing. Did you know that Johnson County is home to nearly 9,300 individuals aged 60 and over? We are fortunate to have these seniors in our county; they have helped to make this county and our communities what they are today. Many of them are still involved in our communities and contribute greatly to the growth and success of Warrensburg, Holden, Centerview, Chillhowee, Knob Noster, Kingsville and other communities across the county. Did you know that we have two amazing Senior Centers in Johnson County – in Warrensburg and in Holden? These two centers provide services and resources that help the seniors in Johnson County create healthy aging experiences. Our services are a safety net for our seniors, in many cases helping them to focus on spending their limited financial resources on things like medication. The dilemma of seniors having to choose between meals and pills is very real. While we can't directly help seniors pay for their medications, we are able to provide other services that help them save money that can be directed to their medications if they need it, or link them to programs that might help them. Many of the seniors in our county live in, or close to the poverty level, and in some cases are unable to afford the basics. The senior centers in Warrensburg and Holden provide many services like these:

- We provide food - over 17,123 meals at these two centers and over 29,726 meals delivered to home bound clients
- Fitness opportunities that help our seniors get fit and stay fit which can help reduce the chance of developing long-term health problems
- We provide education that helps them manage their health issues
- We provide hours of recreation like line dancing, bingo, cards, painting classes and so much more
- Most importantly, we provide a sense of community to these individuals so that they can stay active and in touch with their peers

There are many other services we provide to our seniors. We ask them to contribute what they can. Some of our funding comes from the Older Americans Act and state funding but much of our funding comes from the community and fundraising events like this. Our goal for this fundraiser is $12,000 that will be shared between the Warrensburg and Holden centers. Help us reach this goal and continue to provide hope to our seniors. Send a donation today using the enclosed donation form. Or you can donate online at www.goaging.org. Select Donate then complete the form and don't forget to select the Warrensburg Senior Center!

Karrick, Poe, Morton, Raffurty, and Evans Collect Central Missouri Speedway Wins!

Unsanctioned: Modifieds, Street Stocks, B-Mods, Mod-Lites, and Pure Stocks
Central Missouri Speedway
Event #23 - May 4, 2019

(Warrensburg, MO) After a long week's work on the surface for the track crew and a week to ready the cars, racing resumed on Saturday evening for Warrensburg, Holden, and Knob Noster Chamber of Commerce night at Central Missouri Speedway!

A total of 105 race teams were on hand for competition, among them being 25 A-Mods, 16 Street Stocks, 26 B-Mods, 28 Mod-Lites, and 10 Pure Stocks. Through the night, 15 preliminary heat races were completed along with one b-main and five main events for the fans on hand.

Pure Stock Recap: To start the night, Pure Stock drivers contested a pair of heat races with Steve Evans taking charge of the first over J.R. Billings. For the second heat it was all Kyle Rowland over Logan Headley. Steve Evans and Kyle Rowland began the night's 12-lap Pure Stock feature from row one. Evans led the opening circuit with Rowland and Billings in tow. By the halfway distance, Evans pulled out to a six-car length lead over Billings. After a late-race yellow flag, Evans held strong at the front and went on to collect his first main event of the year just as his car's left front experienced mechanical issues crossing the line just in front of Rowland in second. Billings was third, Logan Headley fourth, and David Doelz fifth.

Mod-Lites Recap: A large field of Mod-Lite drivers ran in four heat races to set the stage for the night's a- and b-main events later in the evening. David Raffurty blasted to the front at the start of heat one and went the distance for the victory as Ed Griggs rocketed from inside of row three to claim heat two. Heat three went to Jeff Raffurty from his row two start position. In the final Mod-Lite heat, Travis Alexander took the win. Cody Vail took the Mod-Lite b-main win. The 20-lap main event began with a trio of false starts before drivers settled in to their race rhythm. Griggs held point in the early stages with Dillon and David Raffurty second and third. Caution slowed the field at lap eight and again on lap ten but the cautions were not enough to slow down Dillon Raffurty who collected the win in the lap-shortened distance of 15 over Griggs, David Raffurty, Justin Raffurty, and Michael Raffurty.

B-Mod Recap: It took four heat races for B-Mod drivers to establish their main event lineup with Jake Richards taking the first heat victory. Rod Cordon dominated for the win in heat two with Mark Schafman making a triumphant return with the third heat victory. J. C. Morton made a rare visit to CMS pay off with the win in the fourth and final heat. J.C. Morton and Kameron Grindstaff led the field to green in the 20-lap main event. Morton checked out at the start leaving Grindstaff and Jeremy Lile to battle for second. A four-car caution slowed the field on lap 14 followed by two more cautions. On the restart on lap 15, Morton felt pressure from Gunner Martin in second but at the white flag marker, Morton again opened his advantage in the lead and went on to collect the victory over Martin, Jeremy Lile, Kameron Grindstaff, and Jake Richards.

Street Stock Recap: A pair of heat races started off the night's Street Stock competition as Clayton Campbell making a furious charge to the front as he bested Devin Irvin. Marc Carter led Aaron Poe to the checkers in the second and final Street Stock heat to setup the a-main lineup. A pair of former champions led the way in the Street Stocks with Clayton Campbell and Marc Carter on row one. Campbell was strong at the start as he raced closely with Marc Carter. After a lap three caution, Aaron Poe moved forward to battle with Carter for second. Just passed halfway, Campbell continued to lead Carter, Poe, and Nathan Vaughn inside the top four. Carter and Poe put heavy pressure on Campbell by lap 11 as Carter crossed in the lead. A late-race caution slowed the field again on lap 11 with Carter and Poe fighting for the win. However, at the end of the race it was the 45 car of Aaron Poe who came away with the victory in a close battle to the finish over Marc Carter, Clayton Campbell, Nathan Vaughn, and Jason Park.

A-Mod Recap: Modifieds were 25 cars strong for the night and competed in three heat races with Matt Johnson claiming heat one ahead of Tim Karrick. Mickey Burrell took the win in heat two over Chad Lyle while Dean Wille held on for the win over Darron Fuqua in the third and final heat. The 25-lap a-main started with Chad Lyle and Darron Fuqua on row one. Fuqua's night ended quickly as he was unable to complete a lap. Several early race cautions slowed the beginning of the race as Lyle and Mickey Burrell ran near the front. By lap five, Karrick took command over Lyle with Johnson third and Burrell fourth. Caution flew again on lap nine as the drivers worked hard to figure out the fastest line. By lap 10 caution flew once again as Karrick retained his lead on the front stretch. Drivers settled into their race rhythm for the next several laps as Karrick held point with Lyle second. In heavy traffic, Karrick did not look back and collected the $1,200 victory as there were more than 24 drivers competing with the bonus in effect. It was Karrick's first CMS win since August of 2015. Lyle was second at the finish with 15th starting Terry Schultz in third. Rounding out the top five were Dalton Kirk and Matt Johnson.

Coming Up Next: Next Saturday, May 11th is Cliff Harris Ford Night Weekly Racing 4. On race day, Pit Gates open at 4:30 followed by spectator grandstands at 5. Driver pill-draw ends at 6:15 (no passing points if driver checks in late), the pit meeting takes place at 6:30, and practice 'hot laps' begin at 7. Racing begins at 7:30.

Adult general admission is $12, Active Military $10, Senior Citizens ages 65 to 74 years $10, Kids ages 6 to 12 years $6, Senior Citizens 75 and older free, Children 5 and under free. All pit passes, regardless of age are $35. All minors 18 years and older will require a minor release form, available on-site. The minor release form is available for downloading and printing on the CMS website at www.centralmissourispeedway.net under the DRIVERS tab. As a reminder to all drivers and fans, CMS does not accept credit cards; however, there are two ATM machines available on-site, one on the front stretch, one on pit side.

US Hwy 13 north of Warrensburg is now under construction. According to the Johnson County EDC, "The City of Warrensburg is beginning construction of a new roundabout at the intersection of Business Route MO-13 and Hawthorne Blvd. This is just north of Walmart, Applebee's and Aldi's. There will be some temporary detours from time to time." CMS suggests using the Hwy 13 north bypass east of Warrensburg from US Hwy 50 as an alternate route if coming to CMS from the south.

Call for Annual Awards Nominations

The Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominees for five upcoming awards that celebrate outstanding Chamber businesses, Chamber members, and volunteers making a difference in our community.

Award winners will be announced at the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce Annual Social event on July 18, 2019. Businesses and individuals can apply for these awards or may be nominated. A committee of volunteer judges will determine the winners. All nominees meeting the criteria will be recognized at the event and are therefore highly encouraged to be present at the Annual Social.

To be considered for a Business of the Year Award the Chamber Members business must set standards for excellence with their business practices and community involvement. There are two categories for this award: a business within their first two years and a business that has been in operation for over two years. To be considered for the Chamber Member of the Year Award the individual must show a high level of involvement and positive influence with the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce. To be considered for the Glazebrook Community Partner of the Year Award the individual must show exemplary leadership and a strong commitment to civic duties. Any member of the community is eligible for this award, regardless of their involvement with the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce.

Tip: Are you a High Self-Monitor?

Research show high self-monitors build better networks.

Confession: up until this week we didn't know what self-monitoring was--and in case you are like us--here is a short answer from Traci Pederson, PsychCentral.com:

- "Self-monitoring is the act of observing and regulating one's own behavior in a social context.
- High self-monitors.... tend to project a particular image of themselves in order to fit in or impress others.... readily adjust their behavior to the situation at hand.
- Low self-monitors, on the other hand, tend to regulate themselves according to their own internal beliefs and are typically less concerned with social context.
- No self-monitoring... the individual may come across as pushy, aggressive and uncompromising."

Why does this matter? Research from the Netherlands found: "High self-monitors were more likely than low self-monitors to attract new friends and to occupy new bridging positions over time."

Even more remarkably, "the new friends that high self-monitors attracted tended to be relative strangers, in the sense that they were unconnected with previous friends, came from different functions, and more efficiently increased the number of structural holes in the resultant network"

This means high self-monitors are creating those all-important diverse networks.

Tip: One-third of the workforce away from the office?

How to keep remote workers engaged.

Dan Schawbel, author of "Back to Human: How Great Leaders Create Connection in the Age of Isolation", in an interview with Reuters said that one-third of U.S. workers work remotely. He offered up an interesting tip on how to keep remote workers engaged.

Schawbel said, "These employees will work harder if they have a sense of connection. For managers, it is important to let a remote worker lead the meeting. It's so simple and brilliant at the same time." He goes on to say this: "And be sure to use video conferencing often for meetings - you get to see and hear someone, which is much better than an email. It also forces you to dress like you are in the office. If you dress the part, you act the part."

Dear Reader: if you work remotely, what successful things have you done to stay engaged with your company? Please also tell us if you work remotely full time or part of the time. Send your comments to: tips@shepalearning.com

Starting your own business: How do entrepreneurs recognize opportunities and develop great ideas?

By Stephen C. Mukembo, County Engagement Specialist in Community Economic Development - University of Missouri Extension, mukembos@missouri.edu

In the current economic times, many employees are uncertain about the traditional 8 to 5 job schedule and are not sure of their job security. They dream of becoming their own bosses (entrepreneurs) to employ other people. If you are one of these people, have you ever wondered how others are able to recognize opportunities and come up with brilliant business ideas?

Truth be told, there is no magic recipe or right age to become an entrepreneur. Some people are naturally creative and innovative, and because of their ingenuity, they come up with new products and services. However, other individuals through experience, social networks, active search, training, observing changes in the community and government policies, or things that “bug” them in their daily lives, they can recognize opportunities and develop innovative ideas to create products and services that satisfy such needs or ease their pain. Things that bother us can be a stimulus for awesome ideas leading to great innovations; the Eureka or Aha! Moment. So what “bugs” you? What can you do to make things different? Could other people be having the same issue (opportunity)? Can your solution help them meet their need? Are they willing and able to pay for your solution? These are some of the questions that you need to ask yourself as you think about generating an idea. Your idea and opportunity ought to intersect. According to William Bygrave, author of the entrepreneurial process, about 80% of new potential businesses evolve from industries that are related to the entrepreneur’s area of work or their previous experience. The following are examples of entrepreneurs and how they developed their ideas.

Mikaila Ulmer – BeeSweet Lemonade: Out of the pain of being stung twice by bees, Mikaila, then four years old, developed a passion for learning about bees and the role they play in the ecosystem. She realized that bees were vital in the food chain, but they were dying in large numbers. Mikaila’s desire to save the honeybees led her to start a lemonade stand selling lemonade mixed with honey and other recipes she got from her great granny. Mikaila appeared on Shark Tank and got a deal of $60,000 with Daymond John for a 25% stake in her company. Today Bee Sweet Lemonade is carried in several stores. In 2016, when Malaika was 11 years old, she signed an $11 million deal with Whole Foods to sell her lemonade, and she donates some of her proceeds to several organizations to save the bees and the environment.

Bernie Marcus and Arthur Blank – Home Depot: When Marcus and Blank were fired from the now-defunct Handy Dan home improvement chain, they thought of ways to create their employment. Based on their experience working with home improvement stores, Home Depot was born. They started with two stores in Atlanta, and have now expanded to three countries with over 2200 stores.

Successful entrepreneurs often envision the end goal of their business ventures as they develop new strategies. Are you considering taking the entrepreneurial path? You may also want to ask yourself these other questions:

How will you manage the business, and what is your succession plan or exit strategy? How big do you want to grow your business? Do you want to keep it local, regional or make it global? As your business expands, do you plan to keep it private or do you intend to make it public through initial public offering?

Addressing these questions will help you as you think about the future of your business. For more information and assistance in answering some of these questions consult Kelly Asbury with the Missouri Small Business Development Center at State Fair Community College by calling 660.596.7350 or email kasbury1@sfcmmo.edu. Our consultants can help you evaluate the feasibility of your concept or how to write a business plan and a business model canvas for your venture.

Business Tip Friday brought to you by MU Extension

Do not become a statistic of a failed business, be proactive not reactive! Proactive businesses plan with specifics as they develop a roadmap for the future while those that are reactive focus on what has already happened.

Deductibles, High or Low?

At Mike Keith Insurance, Inc. we specialize in employee benefits for companies all over Missouri.

We strive to help our clients understand and select the right balance between affordability and quality of coverage. When choosing a health plan, most options include the choice between a high and low deductible. Knowing which option is best can be a difficult decision. Here are some quick things to consider before making your choice:

- Generally, plans with lower monthly premiums have higher deductibles. Plans with higher monthly premiums usually have lower deductibles.
- Most Family health plans, regardless of a high or low deductible, will have both an individual deductible and a family deductible. Find out what those deductibles are prior to choosing a high or low deductible.
- Know in advance if the plan you are choosing has a different deductible for certain services, like prescription drugs.
- Research in advance if the plan you are considering pays the full cost of certain preventative benefits even before you meet your deductible.

A new approach to medical plans for small employers

The Missouri Chamber of Commerce and Industry (MCCI) and the Missouri Chamber Federation (MCF) have teamed up with The Health Plan (THP) in Missouri to create a health program that can lead to more rate stability and is a smart solution that offers potential savings for groups with 50 or fewer eligible employees.

This self-funded medical offering called the MCF Benefit Plan is a multiple employer welfare arrangement (MEWA). MEWAs enable smaller employers to join together to share in the overall claims risk. By being part of a larger, self-funded pool, employers have financial protection backed by The Health Plan.

In addition to financial protection, this innovative alternative offers:

- Competitive medically underwritten rates
- Fixed, predictable monthly payments
- A variety of plan designs, including 10 PPO and three HSA options
- Access to the HealthLink OAH network and Freedom Network Select
- Coverage for claims run-out / terminal liability coverage

Is your business searching for a cost-saving health coverage option? The Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce is excited to offer a new plan exclusively for our chamber of commerce members. Our new program enables smaller employers to join together—offering potential savings and the ability to share the overall claims risk. For more information, contact our Chamber member agencies circled below.
