Ribbon Cutting Ceremonies

Aflac District Office

The Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce held a ribbon cutting in celebration of its new member, Aflac District Office, on Friday, October 25th. Aflac is located at 510 E Gay Street, Suite E in Warrensburg, MO. "Aflac is a Fortune 500 company, providing financial protection to more than 50 million people worldwide. When a policyholder or insured gets sick or hurt, Aflac pays cash benefits fairly, promptly, and often in one day for eligible claims, directly to the insured (unless assigned otherwise). For more than six decades, Aflac voluntary insurance policies have given policyholders the opportunity to focus on recovery, not financial stress."

Chamber Member Relations Committee member Veroushka Jones welcomed everyone in attendance for coming, then introduced Aflac District Sales Coordinator Stacey Shannon. Shannon introduced her family members and the Aflac representatives. "We hope to keep growing, and we are really thankful for the support that you all are giving us," Shannon stated.

Anchoring the ribbon in the photo above are City Councilman Nolan Brooks and Chamber Member Relations Committee Member Jodi Norman as Aflac District Sales Coordinator Stacey Shannon prepares to cut the ribbon alongside Aflac employees, community members and fellow chamber members. He is excited to make Warrensburg his new home and provide a professional healthcare service to the community."

"I can actually attest to their service; I've had the pleasure of being here twice since they've been in business and they do a great job," Brisbin stated. She introduced Dr. Layton Gray, who talked about the services they offer, including in-house X-Rays with fast results.

Tip: Very smart follow-up ideas!

Four things you can do after a meeting.

Should I or shouldn't I? Should I click on that marketing email? I knew the company, Calendly, which has a popular scheduling software and the word follow up in the headline interested me so I clicked.

It was a pleasant surprise. Calendly offered up some good follow-up ideas that we may not always think about. They included:

- a reminder to consult helpful resources based on the conversation
 - an invitation to schedule the next meeting
 - an informal survey to collect more information or evaluate your service
 - a thank you note (do we really say 'thank you' enough?)
- Their blog is worth a read: Follow-up emails—build better relationships after every meeting, automatically

Sign up for FREE weekly tips from Shepa Learning Company HERE.

FAST COMPANY

This is the simple mental habit that helped me overcome procrastination (and feel good about work)

What if you could use happiness to combat procrastination? Try to focus on things like gratitude and your internal voice.

LinkedIn has a good idea.

LinkedIn has over 645 million networked members and we were wondering when they were going to leverage that for the social good. They have and it is called the Plus One Pledge.

This story by Meg Garlinghouse, Head of Social Impact at LinkedIn, captures the idea nicely:

"Last year, I started keeping track of the informational interviews I was doing. I realized that almost every one of my meetings were with people who looked exactly like me: white women with four-year college degrees who were already in my network. The irony was not lost on me. Although I spend my days encouraging others to close the network gap, here I was unintentionally contributing to it. I made a commitment that, before helping another person who looked just like me, I would help someone outside my network. This commitment became the Plus One Pledge."

If you decide to take the Plus One Pledge, share your story on LinkedIn with the hashtag #PlusOnePledge.

If you want to learn more about how you could make this work for you, please read: The "+1" mentality can help close the gender and race gap at work

Why not put out a challenge to your team or your company? In our Sticky Note Quote below see what impact that could make!

How to tell if you have workplace burnout or something else

The term "burnout" has become a catchall phrase for a variety of symptoms—some of which belie more serious issues. So, before you describe your feeling as burnout, consider if there may be other causes for these common, but sometimes misleading, symptoms.

There's Strength in Numbers

A medical plan that lets small businesses join together for more plan options and lower rates

Say hello to the Chamber Benefit Plan.

A multiple employer welfare arrangement (MEWA) designed for small businesses who are members of a qualified Chamber of Commerce, like ours.

When it comes to providing employees with cost-saving health care coverage, small businesses are at a big disadvantage compared to their larger counterparts. Because of their smaller size, their claims risk pool is spread out across a much smaller employee population. That can result in higher, less stable insurance rates – and fewer viable plan choices.

Fortunately, there's a simple and affordable medical plan alternative. It's called the Chamber Benefit Plan and it's just one of the many advantages of joining our chamber.

Powered by the Missouri Chamber Federation, administered by The Health Plan (THP) with network access from HealthLink and Freedom Network select, the Chamber Benefit Plan is available to small group employers in Missouri who have 2 to 50 eligible employees.

Advantages that make a real difference:

- › Shared overall claims risk across a large pool
- › Competitive, medically underwritten rates
- › Fixed, predictable monthly payments
- › Choose from a variety of plan designs, including 10 PPO and three HSA options
- › Minimize the impact of ACA mandates while offering coverage to all eligible applicants, regardless of health status
- › Access to HealthLink/Freedom Network Select network
- › Coverage for claims run-out/terminal liability coverage
- › Simple, streamlined administration
