HONOR YOUR FAVORITE VETERAN WHILE HELPING ANOTHER VETERAN

The West Central Missouri Veterans Assistance League is offering different ways you can honor your favorite veteran this spring.

On Memorial Day Weekend, we will host our 2nd Day of Honor and Remembrance.

There are 3 levels of support. They are a light pole banner, a yard sign or a luminary.

Then on June 5, we will host our annual Scramble for Freedom Golf Tournament. Golf cart sponsorships are available for $50.

This is a great way to honor anyone who has served or is currently serving.

It's a wonderful way to keep their presence forever on our minds and in our hearts.

For more information, contact Latisha Koetting, supervisor of volunteer services, at 660-429-4661 or Latisha.Koetting@mvc.dps.mo.gov.

In honor of
Air Force Capt.
Tony Sahlfeld, who served in Vietnam.
Thank you VFW
Auxiliary 4195 in Knob Noster for supporting the Home.

TIP: After 15 minutes your video call could be in trouble.

Tips about virtual meetings are omnipresent and perhaps we think we have mastered how to connect effectively in video meetings, but have we? You may be pleasantly surprised at the concrete suggestions in Mark Bowden's 12 Ways You Can Make the Most of Your Meetings from a Zoom blog post by Hannah Brozek.

Mark Bowden, a renowned body language and virtual communication expert, reminds us that: "After 15 to 20 minutes, engagement drops off. It's not because they're bored or don't like you, it's because their brain is always seeking something new. And if you're not giving them that difference, that texture to the meeting, presentation, or conversation you're having, they will go and seek it elsewhere... You need to create short moments, chunks of content that hold your audience's interest."

Some of Bowden's best ideas:

Introduce: "A new voice, a new attitude, a new face and background — if only for a few moments — helps make something new and different happen."

Mix it up: Try to "change tonality slightly, change pitch slightly, refer to something physical that you can highlight in your environment" to create a sense of dialogue or a refreshing new piece in the conversation.

Be patient: "Don't fear the silence. It takes time for people to compute and come back with an answer."

Tip:

As a leader what should you be?

TIP: As a leader what should you be? Nice or Kind?

One of these behaviors has a bigger impact on success.

Let's start with a definition of both from Mahfuz Ahmed, CEO of DISYS, a global services and staffing firm: "Kind leadership is defined by our research as creating a culture of taking concrete action to help others, addressing a person's need, regardless of tone, and giving permission for real success and failure. Niceness, by contrast, typically centers on pleasing others and being polite so as not to offend."

He goes on to say, "Research shows a direct causal relationship between the height of a company's kindness quotient score and the degree to which it is able to foster an environment of innovation. In fact, an organization is five times more likely to be considered innovative if it is also considered kind."

Everyone has leadership capabilities—whether you are already in that role or developing that skill set. As a self-reflection ask yourself these questions:

- Do I take concrete action to help others?
- Do I take the time to understand and address a person's needs?
- Do I give others permission for success or, more importantly, failure?

Western Missouri Medical Center's Advanced Wound Center Recognized for Clinical Excellence

Western Missouri Medical Center's physicians, leaders, and clinicians gathered today to recognize Advanced Wound Center, a recipient of the Center of Distinction award by Healogics®, the nation's largest provider of advanced wound care services. The Center achieved outstanding clinical outcomes for twelve consecutive months.

The Advanced Wound Center is a member of the Healogics network of over 600 Wound Care Centers® and offers highly specialized wound care to patients suffering from diabetic foot ulcers, pressure ulcers, infections, and other chronic wounds which have not healed in a reasonable amount of time. Advanced wound care modalities provided by our wound care experts include negative pressure wound therapy, total contact casting, bio-engineered tissues, biosynthetic dressings, and growth factor therapies. The Center also offers hyperbaric oxygen therapy.

"We are honored to win the Center of Distinction award for 2021," said Paula Carpenter, Program Director of WMMC's Advanced Wound Care. Care Connection to present series to give 'peace of mind'
Care Connection for Aging Services will present a five-part online series titled "The Gift of Peace of Mind" to help senior adults plan for their later years.

The series, to be presented free on Zoom, will feature a variety of experts at 3 p.m. Tuesdays from April 26 through May 24. Registration, which is required, is available online at www.goaging.org/events or by calling 1-800-748-7826.

Topics include:

April 26: Preparing for Your Care -- in-home care, skilled nursing, and how to pay for them -- featuring Lewis and Marilyn Gunter, Director of Care Management.

May 3: Advance Healthcare Planning -- durable power of attorney; living wills; "do-not-resuscitate" orders; and guardianship/conservatorship -- featuring a Legal Aid of Western Missouri attorney.

May 10: Estate Planning -- Trusts, probate court, and titling accounts/property -- featuring an elder care attorney.

May 17: Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate? -- decision-making obstacles when passing on personal possessions; practical suggestions and proven strategies -- featuring Shannon Poskocil, Coordinator of Public Information for Care Connection.

May 24: End of Life Planning -- what to do when someone dies -- canceling services; sending a will to court, etc. -- featuring a funeral planner.

Each session addresses frequently asked questions by clients of Care Connection, Family Caregiver Coordinator Lisa Lewis said.

"We get a lot of calls and questions about these things," Lewis said. "To get the best results, you need a plan for it before anything happens. We want to cover the whole gamut of planning for the elder years."

At the conclusion, participants should have the "education and knowledge to go out and make these decisions," Lewis said. While attending all five sessions would be best, participants may attend one or all of them.

"Things happen. It's part of living. We want to try to address people before they have a crisis. It puts the person in control when you plan for these things," Lewis said. "This is hard. It's not a fun topic, but it's important."

Care Connection for Aging Services is an area agency on aging serving 21 locations in 13 West Central Missouri counties: Bates, Benton, Carroll, Cedar, Chariton, Henry, Hickory, Johnson, Lafayette, Pettis, Saline, St. Clair, and Vernon. The mission is to provide opportunities to create positive aging experiences. For more information, call 1-800-748-7826 or visit www.goaging.org.

UCM Alumnus Executive Produces Marvel Studios' Six-Part 'Moon Knight' Series

WARRENSBURG, MO (April 29, 2022) – While Moon Knight first appeared in a comic book in 1975, this character may not be on the tip of the tongue in comparison to superheroes like Captain America, Spider-Man and many others who went from the printed page to the big screen. With help from a production team that includes University of Central Missouri graduate Grant Curtis, a new spotlight is shining on this unique character in the Marvel Cinematic Universe (MCU).

Curtis, who earned a master's degree in mass communication from UCM in 1997, serves as one of the executive producers for Marvel Studios' new six-part "Moon Knight" series. He worked with individuals such as prominent Egyptian filmmaker Mohamed Diab, who is making his U.S. directorial debut, and a cast that includes Golden Globe® winner Oscar Isaac in the title role, Ethan Hawke as Arthur Harrow and May Calamawy as Layka El-Faouly. The series was introduced March 30 exclusively on the Disney+ streaming service.

While residing in LA, a friend who lived next door told him famous director Sam Raimi was searching for an assistant. Curtis believed his opportunity to work with Raimi was a stretch, but the great director saw something in him. Curtis went from being an assistant to Raimi to much tougher decision-making roles on films such as the "Spider-Man" trilogy, "The Gift" and others. He built within five years after earning his graduate degree the kind of resume that gets noticed, leading to his selection in 20002 as a UCM Outstanding Recent Alumnus.

Adding "Moon Knight" to his lengthy film resume is a great source of pride for Curtis. He spoke enthusiastically about his role as an executive producer on the project and the opportunity to bring the main character to the forefront for the first time in many people's entertainment experience.

"From 1975 until now, there's been a lot of Moon Knight stories told by great artists and writers, and we think we reflected that in the Disney+/Marvel streaming episodes," Curtis said. "We think we also brought a new thread to this tale."
