TIP: Are emojis just cute, or a real way to connect at work?

Remote communication makes it harder to express emotions or know how others are feeling. If you think using emojis in your office communication might be the solution, here's what Tomoko Yokoi an advisor in digital transformations at IMD Business School and Jennifer Jordan a professor of leadership and organizational behavior at IMD say about them.

"They can help clarify meaning behind digital communications, as well as the type and strength of emotions being expressed."

There researchers share how one senior leader at a global consumer products company "uses emojis and GIFs to help motivate his team members and colleagues: I use them as 'pick-me-ups' to energize and to drive positive moods and behaviors within my team."

When employees at Danske Bank log on to join a remote management meeting, they share an emoji. "Our virtual meetings start with capturing the mood of the day... Emojis allows us to reflect upon and express a broader range of feelings beyond the standard verbal response of 'I'm fine.'"

Yokoi and Jordan suggest you start with "simple emojis (e.g., thumbs up) rather than emojis that represent complex emotions (e.g. laughing emojis with tears) in order to decrease the likelihood that an emoji will offend." ## TIP: Very cool LinkedIn feature if you are taking a career break.

There are lots of reasons why people take a pause in their career and what LinkedIn has found is "even with career breaks becoming more popular, some hiring managers are still hesitant to pursue those who have taken a break — indeed, one in five hiring managers say they outright reject such candidates."

Now people can add a Career Break to their LinkedIn Profile and talent professionals or recruiters will see this "highlighted pause" explained (and in a way legitimized), rather than just seeing a time gap in a person's career.

While you may not be planning a career break, you can share this cool new feature with friends and colleagues who are planning a break, or are currently on one. Sharing something helpful is a great way to reconnect with people in your network.

Fourth-Generation UCM Alumna in IMC Honored with Foster-Inglish Prize

WARRENSBURG, MO (June 23, 2022) – As a member of a family that produced four generations of University of Central Missouri graduates, Ellen Blaize has a lot of appreciation for her alma mater, and sharing her passion for UCM through her work in the Office of Integrated Marketing and Communications is getting noticed. She was recently recognized as the recipient of the 2022 Carl B. Foster/John M. Inglish Prize for Outstanding Achievement and Service in Public Relations.

Kelly Waldram Cramer, associate vice president of Integrated Marketing and Communications, announced the award during a staff meeting conducted via Zoom on June 21. Blaize, who participated from her office, was surrounded by walls and shelves adorned with lots of photos, pennants, buttons, posters, and much more representing UCM's longstanding history when she heard the good news.

"She truly loves UCM," Waldram Cramer said in recognizing Blaize. "If you couldn't tell that by all of the cool memorabilia in her office, you would be able to tell by the work she does for the university. She truly believes in this place and is the type of person who elevates UCM. She exemplifies service to UCM, IMC and to students."

Through her efforts, Blaize also exemplifies the type of individual for whom this honor is intended. The Carl B. Foster/John M. Inglish Prize for Outstanding Achievement and Service in Public Relations was made possible by longtime Warrensburg resident and university alumnus John Inglish. Upon retiring in 2000 as University Director Emeritus of Public Relations, he established an endowment through the UCM Alumni Foundation to honor his longtime friend and mentor, Carl Foster.

Ten Home Cooks Put Their Culinary Skills to the Test in 'The Great American Recipe'

WARRENSBURG, MO (June 21, 2022) – “The Great American Recipe” is a competition that welcomes home chefs from across the nation as they showcase America’s diversity through regional cuisines. Airing 8-9 p.m. (CST) Fridays, beginning July 24 on KMOS PBS, the University of Central Missouri’s public television station, the show will be hosted by Alejandra Ramos. Each episode of the series gives the cooks the opportunity to showcase two of their beloved signature dishes as they compete to win this national search for best recipe in America. Judges Leah Cohen, Tiffany Derry and Graham Elliot bring their professional insights and deep culinary knowledge to encourage and support the contestants along the way.

Regardless of their region, each contestant brings their family traditions, inspirations and passions to the competition. Imra Cadiz, New York, grew up eating Dominican and Puerto Rican food and loves to prepare her mother’s recipes as a tribute to her family’s Caribbean heritage. Bambi Daniels, Winston-Salem, North Carolina, describes her cooking as Southern “Heart & Soul” food — everything has a hint of her South Carolina roots and lots of love. Robin Daumit, Annapolis, Maryland, developed a cooking style that combines Mediterranean and Middle Eastern influences from her mother’s Syrian heritage and the regional cuisine of her home state of Maryland.

New art added to Downtown Warrensburg

If you have been into Downtown Warrensburg lately, you have seen colorful murals on buildings, in alleys and all around. Warrensburg Main Street’s Design and Art committee made it a priority in 2020 to add more art into Downtown. After completing several art pieces in 2020, Main Street has added 5 different art pieces or murals to the thriving downtown. Adding art into our downtown helps bring a sense of place to the community, supporting local artists and providing an outlet for creative expression.

Each year the Main Street art and design committee brainstorm ideas of types of art to add into downtown. Selfie art was at the top of the list in 2021 and after a community wide submission process, three selfie murals were chosen to be added in various locations downtown. Those three murals were recently completed by local artist Katie Childers and Taylor Trudell. The fun interactive murals can be found in the alley between Brown’s Shoe Fit and Old Drum Coffeehouse and another mural on the side of SC Fuel near the UMB Bank drive-thru. Finally, the third final selfie mural is located on Culton Street.

Community members are encouraged to come and take selfies in front of each mural and tag Warrensburg Main Street so we can share the fun that people are experiencing with our local art. The most recent art to be added in Downtown is a collaboration with Warrensburg Main Street, RISE Community Services and Sterling Elementary. Early in 2022, social worker Emily Elkins reached out about ways to get Sterling Elementary students involved within the community. Executive director Jill Purvis thought a great long lasting impactful project would be to bring more Art!

The Main Street Art Committee had Dog Art on their agenda therefore the idea of adding shadow art of Old Drum came to life. The Sterling student from Mrs. Kirkbrides 4th grade class collaborated with individuals from RISE to create 20 uniquely painted dog outlines. Each art piece is a one of a kind creation and can be found along the staircase fencing in The Alley that connects Pine Street and Culton Street and on the parking lot fencing across from the courthouse on Market Street. These fun unique dog shadow art pieces are a great addition to our growing community art in downtown.

Warrensburg Main Street has several other art pieces in the works and the community can expect to see more art popping up throughout the summer. Warrensburg Main Street’s goal is to add art downtown that is created by community members with community involvement that fills various spaces in downtown. If you are interested in being a part of the process contact our office at 1-660-429-3988 or email us at info@warrensburgmainstreet.org

Warrensburg
MISSOURI
Chamber of Commerce

The Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce's mission is to create opportunities that drive commerce and promote business. One way we help do that is to direct newcomers or visitors to Warrensburg to our local businesses! These publications are handed out at community events, given away in our Welcome Bags that go out to Whiteman Air Force Base and various other locations, housed in our office and posted on our website.

The Restaurant Guide contains a list of restaurants, coffee shops, wineries, etc. in Warrensburg, as well as our Chamber members in Knob Noster. Our Chamber members are listed in bold in this publication.

Our Relocation Information brochure lists essential businesses and organizations to contact upon arrival to Warrensburg. This brochure only contains our Chamber members' information.

If you know someone who has recently moved to the area, or if you know someone interested in moving to Warrensburg, please refer them to our website at www.warrensburg.org to find these resources!
